RUSS FLEET NOT ABLE TO STOP BOCHES

DESPITE REPEATED WARNING GOVERNMENT WAS TOO IN-TERESTED IN POLITICAL SITUATION.

POLITICS ARE BLAMED

Do Not Believe That Germans Will Attempt Any Great Drive This Late in Year.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Berlin via London, Oct. 16.—The Germans have taken full possession of Oesel Island at the entrance to the Gulf of Riga, the war office reported. The Russians had been isolated on Svord peninsula and are offering desperate resistance.

Ruado and Abro Islands in the gulf of Riga have been occupied by the Germans. The Germans have captured on Oesel Island 2,400 prisoners and thirty guns. Two machine guns and several small boats were also captured.

Herr Scheidemann, referring to the Caeppelle incident, said that unfortunately it could not be discussed in public.

Receive Leaders.

Copenhagen, Oct. 16.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and General Von Luederitz have received leaders of the German Trade Union who laid before them complaints against regulations issued by the department heads of the army limiting or in some cases paralyzing the freedom of action of the union. The outcome of the conference has not been announced, but the Vorwärts of Berlin believes the grievances of the union will be investigated.

"Since March," the admiral said today, "I have several times drawn attention to the possibility of such a blow and I also discussed the situation with Premier Kerensky, but he paid attention to the government warning, though we are at war our political differences have been given first place in the minds of the people. Events show that the Germans have been able to take full advantage of it."

German naval power is four times greater than that of Russia. The admiral of the naval force in the Gulf of Riga did everything possible to prevent landing of the Germans and will continue to carry out all orders of the minister of marine. The minister sees no immediate danger or a German attempt to enter the gulf of Finland. He expresses the belief that owing to the lateness of the season the German operations will be located in the gulf of Riga.

The Petrograd council of workmen and soldiers' delegates has issued an appeal to the army and fleet to obey their commanders and to fight to save the capital and repel the Germans in the gulf of Riga.

Gaining Headway.

The German landing force on the Russian Oesel is developing its success, the Russian war office announced today, and is continuing its advance with additional troops.

The Germans have instituted an offensive against the Svbol peninsula in the southwestern section of the island, with the object of capturing the Russian batteries at Serel. These batteries cover the entrance to the Gulf of Riga.

Parliament to Open.

Petrograd, Oct. 16.—The provisional government has postponed the opening of the preliminary parliament from October 18 to 20. Premier Kerensky, who has recovered sufficiently from his recent illness to travel, will return to Petrograd tomorrow and will open the parliament.

Eight days before the opening of the assembly parliament will suspend its labors. Members of parliament will enjoy parliamentary immunity and be exempted from military service. Any measure adopted by this body must bear the signature of at least thirty members in order to become effective.

On Other Fronts.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 16.—Wm. F. Hanan, attorney, has submitted a petition to Congress against the discharge granted to Edward U. Demmer, Milwaukee-Western Fuel company, from army service. The discharge was granted on an industrial claim filed by Charles W. Moody, vice president of the coal company.

Mr. Hanan asserts that the record fails to disclose any medical proof sufficient to warrant a discharge.

Mr. Demmer, according to his registration card, had originally claimed discharge on physical grounds, but the examining physician passed him as being fit.

Parliament Gathers
TO PASS WAR CREDIT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

London, Oct. 16.—Parliament reassembled today after a recess of two months. Its most important duty will be the passing of financial credit. This probably will bring up for discussion the general war situation.

On the Italian front the Austro-Hungarians have been trying to open a counter-offensive at two points.

On the Julian front, northeast of Gorizia, and on the Carso plateau, southeast of Gorizia, despite the severity of the artillery fire preceding the attacks, all broke down under the stout resistance of the Italians.

On the Balkan front, British troops attacked the Bulgarians near Seres, in Greek Macedonia, inflicting severe losses.

Ministerial Crisis Waiting Return of Emperor William

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Copenhagen, Oct. 16.—No steps in the ministerial crisis and no action on the resignation of Admiral Von Capelle, the minister of marine, were expected by the German newspapers upon the return of Emperor William from his Balkan trip. Dr. Michaelis, the chancellor, has left the capital to study conditions in the occupied district of Russia as if nothing was more remote from his mind than the thought of retirement.

Demand for the dismissal of Michaelis was the leading theme of the opening session Sunday of the socialist party convention at Wurzburg, Bavaria, at which Philip Scheidemann, the majority socialist leader in the Reichstag, was a speaker. Frederick Ebert, a socialist member of the Reichstag, assailed those members who attempted to prolong the war. He declared also that the advocates of the socialist German peace were working in the interest of their own party's interest and not for the fatherland.

Herr Scheidemann said that the war profiteers were investing millions of marks in the German press, which accounted for the increasing number of newspapers attacking the advocates of a moderate peace. The convention was for less imposition in size than the previous conventions.

Speedy Peace Vital.

Amsterdam, Oct. 16.—In his speech at the Werzberg convention, Herr Ebert, president of the German socialist party, said speedy conclusion of peace was a vital necessity for workers in all countries and that the policy of the mailed fist would disappear after the frightful horrors of the war.

If a ballot were taken today, he added, nine-tenths of the people would approve peace by agreement."

Herr Scheidemann, referring to the Caeppelle incident, said that unfortunately it could not be discussed in public.

German Weekly to STOP PUBLICATION

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 16.—The Appleton Volksfreund, largest weekly newspaper in the state outside of Milwaukee, will be discontinued and an English language daily started at a short time. Richard Meyer, president of the Appleton Publishing company announced. This is because of the stringent law compelling publishers of German language papers to submit to correct translation of all war news, editorial or comments on the war or government to the postmaster before publishing.

Parliament Gathers
TO PASS WAR CREDIT

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

London, Oct. 16.—British airmen in their recent attack on the Belgian town of Roulers, caused the destruction of an arsenal in which was quartered a large arrived German regiment.

This information was contained in a dispatch from Amsterdam and was reported by a trustworthy correspondent on the Dutch frontier.

One of the first incendiary bombs dropped struck the arsenal, which immediately burst into flames. The confusion was added to by the airmen, who, descending to a low altitude, used their machine guns to sweep them, by increasing the speed of their flight, which the correspondent said was enormous.

Carry Out Patrols.

The following official statement was made public today:

"A considerable number of patrols were carried out yesterday by naval aircraft in which several enemy airplane formations were encountered. Two enemy machines were driven down; one of our machines is missing.

During the past twenty-four hours bombing raids were carried out on the Bruges dock, Varssevare airfield and Mouttaye airfield. Large quantities of explosives were dropped, with good effect, all machines returning with safety."

U. S. PAYING LARGE SHARE OF WAR COST

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

New York, Oct. 16.—The war is costing belligerent nations $160,000,000 a day, $6,000,000 an hour, and the United States is paying at least one-third of this staggering sum, according to estimates today by the Mechanical and Metals National Bank of New York City. The estimated daily cost at the beginning of the war was $50,000,000 and a year ago it was a hundred million dollars.

This country's rate of expenditure is greater than any other nation, Great Britain being second and Germany next.

ITALY'S GALLANT ARMY IS EQUIPPED WITH NEWEST AND MOST EFFECTIVE MACHINES OF MODERN WARFARE

An Italian fortification in the Carso (above) and a new type of Italian mitrailleuse.

The victorious Italian army that so successfully has been routing the Austrians has, in addition to morale and discipline unsurpassed by any other European fighters, the newest and most effective of guns and modern war machines. The Italian fortifications in the Carso are equipped with the heaviest caliber turret guns of the type that are rapidly becoming the most popular of heavy artillery. A new type of pistol-mitrailleuse, double-barreled and fitted with a heavy shield of armor plate is carried by the soldiers on their backs.

GERMAN ARSENAL IN ROULERS IS BOMBED
BY BRITISH AIRMEN

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Somewhere in France, Oct. 16.—Just now the Argonne forest is no place for a man holding a pistol-aiguille. Plateau, where thousands of French and Germans met death in bloody combat, is as quiet on these sunny autumn days as the Polo grounds in midwinter. Barraging an occasional thunder roll from far away batteries and an hourly reciprocal bombardment by French and German guns, the noises that stir the valley of the Argonne, the barking of the young French officer, the shouting of the British airmen, the escorting three correspondents to a position from which a wide stretch of the Argonne front could be easily seen. Our car sped through an utterly deserted village, dashed by the retreating Germans after the battle of the Marne, and met complete ruin by later bombardments.

The road led straight out into a great amphitheatre bordered by wooded hills, criss-crossed by the ruins of old trenches.

"See those sticks?" said our escort, pointing to row plainly visible to the naked eye along the top of the hill to our left. "They are the Boche's wire and trench traps. He has a few batteries in that woods. If he was energetic he might give us a few shells."

The German positions were getting uncomfortably nearer. We left the car under a slight rise in the ground that hid it from German observation and started on foot across a field to seek cover behind a hill held by the Boche. We had barely clambered out of the car when a shell burst 600 yards ahead in a field near the road over which our car had been speeding.

"Well, he did try one on us," laughed the French officer, "but it was a bad one. I'll wire the Kaiser to take away his iron cross."

Over in the dugouts behind the French trench, a German was writhing away at knicknacks, breaking cards and taking cat naps. The dull boom of guns came across intervening hills from the Verdun front, only a few kilometers away. Our escorting officer led the way up over the hilltop past an anti-aircraft gun. The gunner who wished us "bon jour" and lamented because he hadn't seen a German for many days.

Our observation post our coming was an event. The officer in charge confided that it was a dull life. The Germans hadn't sent a shell his way for a long time. He was glad to meet newcomers and mighty glad to break the monotony of a day's work by pointing out the Boche trenches in the valley below and the great variety of mud holes, places to sit, etc. No sign of life name from trenchland. At one point where a V-shaped German trench seemed almost to run into a V-shaped French trench—only sixty feet separated them—they had been a little grenade tossing a few hours earlier.

ROCK PRAIRIE

Rock Prairie, Oct. 16.—Everyone is cordially invited to attend the catered supper which will be given by the downtown Rock Prairie branch of the Red Cross at the First church basement on Nov. 1, Friday evening, October 19th. The committee will begin serving supper at six-thirty o'clock and continue until all are served.

Miss Elizabeth Lamb of Montmoutch college, has been spending a few days at her home. She was called here by the death of her uncle, the late William Lamb.

Miss Margaret Metay was a week end visitor in Beloit.

Mrs. Robert Hadden and daughter, Miss Jean Hadden, spent Saturday in Winona.

Miss Jessie Menzies entertained the young ladies' Sunday school class at a luncheon at her home on last Saturday.

It is expected that a committee will canvas the town this week in the interest of the second Liberty Loan.

COMPANY M LEADS IN SUBSCRIPTIONS TO LIBERTY LOAN

(By Sergeant Beard.)

Company M, 128th Infantry, N. G. Camp MacArthur, Waco, Texas, Oct. 11, 1917.—Why can't we get better mail service down here is the cry of many of the members of Company M. The incoming mail seems to be very irregular, and the men are getting sick of it all, hardly while other days we are swamped with mail. Of course I do not mean that we receive so much mail the second day that we cannot take care of it all, because such is never the case.

The boys all worked hard today and were drilling out in the field during the time when the dirt was flying regular clouds. When the dirt flies down here it sure does fly too. After a dirt or wind storm everything is covered with a fine dust which sticks like a leach.

General Haan is scheduled to give the opening address at the 1917 Cotton Palace fair to be held in Waco soon. He has been selected by the board of directors. In General Haan being constructed in the southern desertion, he is sure to be a success, especially upon the exposition.

A communication was presented by the directors of the Cotton Palace, in which it was stated that a military display at the Cotton Palace is assured. It is expected that about 5,000 men will be in this military pageant, consisting in part of a sham battle, sword playing, parades, drills, marches and military music.

Four Hawaiian singers are assured for the Cotton Palace, and W. H. Hoffmann was authorized to close a contract with them. The Bettie band will furnish the dance music.

The war department has put the lid on as regards the issuance of passes and furloughs to soldiers. In the past it has not been a difficult matter for an enlisted man to get a furlough. He will not get one in the future for more than a month's time, and it will have to be a mighty urgent case that will get him off for this or even a shorter length of time. The rule applies also to officers.

"Leaves and furloughs will be granted in urgent cases only," says the order issued at division headquarters at Camp MacArthur yesterday.

"During the continuance of the present emergency," says the order, "the regulation authorizing commanders in the United States to grant passes and furloughs in excess of one month, is suspended."

Our company is heading the list in the amount of subscriptions for the Liberty Loan bonds. Up to date our company has subscribed about seven thousand dollars. No other company in the regiment is doing as well.

The thousand officers at Camp MacArthur met yesterday afternoon at the open air theater of Smith's and heard Brigadier General W. C. Haan commanding the thirty-second division talk on the advisability of investing in Liberty loan bonds. At the conclusion of the meeting, the officers stepped up to the platform and subscribed for more than $50,000 worth of the bonds.

General Haan, subscriber: Major Howard, adjutant general, subscriber; Major Russell, chief of staff, put his name on one of the slips, and Captain E. Briggs, who made one of the main talk of the session, subscribed.

"Have you bought Liberty bonds, yet?" said General Haan to Captain Briggs following the meeting.

"No, but I gave the lecture," said the captain.

"I don't care about that," said the commander. "I am subscribing on condition that the other half says it's O.K."

"I guess that is the best idea," said the captain, and he went up and bought bonds, forthwith.

Yesterday's gathering of officers was the best yet held at Camp MacArthur. The men listened for an hour to General Haan and Captain Briggs. And the attention given and the applause did more than anything else to show with what enthusiasm the men received the word and acted like a war meeting. There was blasting for road work on one side and the blasts sounded like gun fire. On the other side there were upward of 1,000 athletic soldiers playing football, baseball, volleyball and a dozen other games. There was continuous cheering or basting or talking. And the thousand officers turned their faces toward the platform and noted real soldiers do, and they are no soldiers, for they not only drill, they are backing the drill with Liberty bonds.

"I want to each day inform the secretary of war as to the amount of bonds subscribed for by the thirty-second division," said Major J. H. Schouten, who is in charge of the loan subscription at Camp MacArthur.

"I would like to see every officer of the division subscribe," said General Haan.

"We will," said the officers, and then the subscription began.

It was announced that there will be an organization in each regiment to take subscriptions from enlisted men. Lieutenant Peiton was in charge of the committee from our company. Sergeant Kappa, Sergeant Beard and Buck Sartell as his assistants. They can take bonds of $50 and upward. They will have to make only the first payment this month and then can pay at the rate of $5 monthly. This plan worked out fine with the men of Company M and a goodly number of the boys subscribed.

loan bonds.

Newspaper clipping from the Beloit Daily News.

There were pictures of Dionysius from the time he was a tiny baby, until he became an old man, thoughtful and serene. Some of the scenes, caricatured on a frieze on a building once carved on sarcophagi and some were statues rescued from the debris of cities, or dug up from the ruins of Herculanum and Pompeii. There were some modern pictures of Grecian life taken by Prof Wright during his residence in Athens, which showed the real life of the people had changed little during the many centuries from the four or five hundred years before Christ until the present time.

Prof Arbutnot of the high school managed the lantern and manipulated the slides. Prof Wright prefaced his lecture with a reading of extracts from an early play by Aeschylus, called "The Suppliants." In this there is a chorus of one or more young maidens and one or more speaking characters. The members of this class were each privileged to bring one guest and the meeting was held in the lower room of the library. Prof Wright was introduced by the president of the class for this year, Mrs. Fred Sutherland.

Notice: A regular meeting of the Workers of the World will be held at the East Side Old Fellow's Hall this evening at 8:30 o'clock. Initiation will be held.

THE KNITTER.

What do you do, Little Sister?
Murmuring there in the sun?
If you please, I am counting my stitches.

My new knitting is just begun.
What do you knit, Little Sister?

A scarf for your shiny gold head?
Oh, no! let my hair go uncovered,
I knit for a lad instead.

And who is the lad, Little Sister?
Your own lad by love and by right?
Oh, no, if you please, it is any dear lad.

Darenot tell them in the fight,
When I saw your bowed head, Little Sister.

And your moving hand on your knee,
I thought you were slipping along the bonds.

In Our Father and Hall Marie.
Oh, yes, if you please, I pray as I can.

And the stitches and prayers make the sum.

Two is for England, four is for France,
And six is for Belgium.

And all the great fellowship follows,
Woven in, row and row.

I pray as I knit and I knit as I pray,
Blushing off with Amon at the toe.

—By Alice Brown.

The above is from a little book of poems that has just been issued. It tells a lesson all its own in the few lines. A lesson this great war has driven home with a force that can not be denied. Go where you will and visit where you may and you will find the same conditions existing right here at home.

Recently the writer saw four little girls, the oldest not over thirteen, the youngest probably eight, on their way to school. The three older girls were knitting scarfs as they walked along, the fourth had a bit of a needle and was making wristlets. All working, all happy. Can you tell me that the fortunate soldier or sailor who wears this work of these little people is not going to fight harder and be braver for the work?

This war has brought us all upon one common level. It has wiped out class distinction and from the homes of the rich and the poor the sons and daughters have gone forth to do their share in maintaining the sanctity of this nation's existence by their own individual efforts. At home the young and the old are knitting for the comforts of those in the field. Scarfs, wristlets, mittens, hoods and sweaters, all are being turned out by the score, but the demand is greater than the supply.

The little knitter of France has found its counterpart in the little knitters of the United States, the little knitters of Janesville. The blow these soldier lasses are to strike for us means an insurmountable against future invasion of a foreign power, either through force of arms or intrigue.
We have traitors in our midst. We have wolves wearing the sheep's clothing, who desire only to bring about the ruin of this government and the increase of power to the Fatherland.

This class of citizens are not loyal.
Their place is within some prison wall.
The little knitters why they their needles, on their way to school, who knit when others are at play, are all doing their best to counteract this foreign-paid influence, and while Janesville may have citizens disloyal at heart, they now become open enemies as long as those needles click as they do.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING.

One of the first steps in universal military training is teaching the youth of this country how to march and handle weapons. The lesson of obedience to orders, discipline and straightforward action, it is something that can not be overlooked. It is coming as sure as green apples, and meanwhile Janesville has taken time by the forelock and shows actual advance in the general plan that is coming. Adds from the numerous enlistments in the various branches of the federal service, both on land and sea, in the national guard units and the national army, recruited from drafted men, the newly organized state guard it has organized a High School company which numbers close to a hundred members. These citizens of tomorrow are just as enthusiastic over their drill nights as men of more mature years. They apparently fully understand that preparation is half the battle and they mean to be prepared when the time comes. This nation will never settle down again to the state of unpreparedness that it has slept through in years past and in consequence the young men who are prepared by military training stand a far better chance of advancement in days to come than those who are not.

Universal training is coming and it will be a grand and glorious thing for this nation, but meantime our boys of today are fitting themselves and they deserve the support and encouragement of every loyal citizen. They will need aid in obtaining their uniforms and equipment and this extra strain upon the public purse must be met cheerfully when the time comes.
Meanwhile Janesville again sets the pace for other cities to equal if they can.

LIBERTY BONDS.
Every citizen of Rock county is being given an opportunity to buy one or more Liberty bonds. It is cheaper to receive interest on money loaned than to pay tribute out of your hard-earned cash. One has but to look at Belgium, at Poland, at Serbia and at northern France to see what the ravages of the present war have done for these communities. Incidentally other European nations that have remained neutral are paying "tribute" to the central powers, just as the United States would have to do if we had not entered into this struggle with men and money in behalf of the civilized world. The United States government asks the citizens of this nation to loan them their money.

They agree to pay interest on the same; they only ask the money as a loan. They need this money to clothe and maintain the vast army that has been called into existence owing to the exigencies of the situation. We who stay at home can help by loaning our money at good security, backed by the government of the richest nation in the world, for a limited number of years. Why delay?

COLLEGE GIRLS ON FARMS.

A party of college girls who recently went out in the country to help the farmers with orchard and garden work have returned to their studies and reported a pleasant and profitable experience. They were given much social attention, entertained in the homes of the farmers, and did a lot of work.

Farmers have been complaining bitterly of lack of help. Yet it has not probably occurred to one in a hundred of them that college girls would or could do this work. Yet the farmers in the town that employed this party of girls found that the girls had saved their crops.

In every college, normal, and other school, there are many girls working their way through, who would gladly go out in summer for such employment. It would be more profitable than the formerly popular task of waiting on summer hotel tables and much more independent.

After it has handled a reduced amount of mail matter for a time, perhaps the government will find that it is not making as much out of the three cent postage as it expected.

With the government asking for bids for 1,000,000 pounds of turkey for Thanksgiving, there is little incentive for a prudent bird to work very hard to find fattening food.

Some people will fuss and bother for two or three weeks to find some man to clean up litter for them, while others go out and do it themselves in about two hours.

After denouncing the middlemen who force up prices, some of the farmers are preparing to hold their potatoes to get more out of the consumer.

One way of joining the conservation of resources movement, is waiting before raking up leaves until the wind blows them over to your neighbors' lawns.

A LITTLE SLICE-O' LIFE.

I was going to Boston
To try and sell a publisher something
That I knew he didn't want,

And, child-like, I was figuring ex-

My wife said: "Why don't you write Henry Stevens."

That you are coming? He has a lovely home.

You can cut down expenses that way."

My wife suffers from intuitions.
I hadn't thought of Henry in nine years.

But I sat down and wrote him a nice letter.

Telling him I was coming, and everything.

His answer today was: "Glad you are

I will meet you at the station

And will show you where

You can find a good hotel."

He will not meet me at any station.

I don't want that kind of a hotel.

The insect made a vicious attack upon

A FATHER'S PRAYER

I sometimes wonder when I read the sorrow in the face

If I shall wear that look of scare when time has marched apace?

My little boy is five years old and he is twenty-one.

My little boy is home with me; his boy to war has gone.

And I can laugh and dance with life, and I can gayly jest.

But heavy is the heart today that beats within his breast.

Time was his boy, was five years old; time was he smiled as I.

I wonder what awaits for me when youth has journeyed by?

Last night I sat at home and watched my little boy at play.

And all the time I thought of him whose boy was gone away.

And in the boy that I gossessed I prayed for silence that he

God would quickly bring him back his little boy again.

RED CROSS SOCIETY MAKES
BIG SHIPMENT MONDAY

Evansville, Oct. 16.—A very fine di-play of knitted articles were on exhibition at the city hall yesterday afternoon before they were packed in the huge box awaiting them to be sent to Chicago and from there to all probably to France by the National Red Cross Society to France. For some weeks past the women in Evansville Magnolia and Cookeville have been busily knitting and they may well feel proud of the results of their labor. This shipment included 72 sweaters, 8 scarfs, 83 pairs of socks, 6 helmets, 20 wristlets. The Red Cross Society would have been much more if only that word was received here to discontinue knitting them. The Red Cross branch in Magnolia furnished their own yarn and furnished a large number of the knitted articles, principally scarfs. White yarn was furnished by Evansville to the Cooksville auxiliary, and they too, proudly did their bit for the Red Cross. The price would be extended to Dr. Evans, for it was through her capable supervision and management that so large a shipment could be made.

OBITUARY.

Elias Crandall Burdick.

Elias Crandall Burdick, another of Janesville's pioneer residents, passed away Monday, after a brief illness, at his home, 1418 Highland avenue. Mr. Burdick was born in Uniontown, Pennsylvania, on October 7, 1857, coming to Janesville in 1876 and has lived here ever since. He was married on April 22, 1892. Besides his grief stricken wife, he is survived by two daughters, and six brothers and sisters, Louisa and Elva, and William of Lakewood, New York; Siliman of California, and James of Oregon, and Mrs. Mary Walton of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Ed. Hampton of Oregon, and Mrs. S. V. Pratt of Hyattsville, Pa. A memorial funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at two from the home, 1418, Highland avenue. The Rev. Clark Walker Cummings will officiate. Interment will be made at the Oak Hill cemetery.

William Lamb.

The mortal remains of William Lamb were laid to rest Monday in the Oak Hill cemetery. Mr. Lamb died after a lingering illness of several months. The many friends and relatives of the deceased paid their last tribute to their friend by sending many beautiful floral offerings and accompanying his remains to their last resting place. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. J. A. Melrose of the Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was a member, from the home on Huron avenue, at 1:30 in the afternoon. The pall bearers were: D. J. McLay, Robert Hedges, Edward Duthie, George McLay, Wm. Zull, and E. E. Withersall.

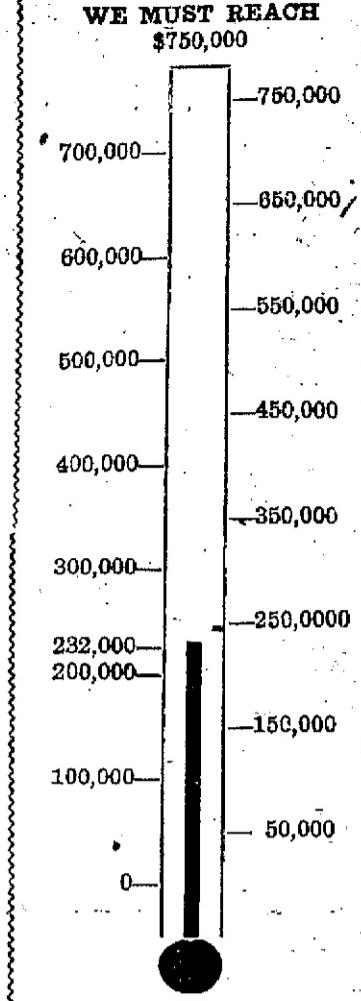

Ellis A. Wilkins.

The funeral of Ellis A. Wilkins, who died last Saturday, was held today from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilkins, 408 Cherry street, at three o'clock. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. J. A. Melrose of the Presbyterian church. The remains were laid to rest at the Oak Hill cemetery.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Edward Dillon is a Milwaukee visitor.

Friends of Rev. J. A. Seemen of Ripon will learn with regret that he will be unable to be present during Presbyterians' week but will come later. Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hopkins and daughter, Mary Lee, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milton F. Baker, West Bluff street.

Word has been received from Allen Dunwiddie, who has been working in the lumber business in Tacoma, Washington, that he has enlisted in the U. S. service and has been sent to the Vancouver barracks.

Rev. Wilfred D. Hamilton and wife of Milton Junction were Monday callers of Mr. and Mrs. K. Miller, 28 East Baker.

I. V. Hogan of South Main street was a business visitor in Chicago yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wheeler of Chicago returned last evening after spending a couple of days in Janesville.

Miss Martha Whitham and Miss Martha Dooley visited friends at Camp Grant in Rockford the week.

Dr. H. W. Pierson of Chicago, who has been the guest of friends in town for the past week, has returned. Mrs. Pierson will remain in town for several days.

Mrs. William More of St. Paul, who has been spending the past three weeks in this city with relatives, returned home today.

Miss Rose Morrissey has resigned her position with the Electric company in this city and has returned to her home in Edgerton. Miss Morrissey expects to take a position later on in Milwaukee.

Mrs. T. J. Wilcox of Spokane, Wash., who has been spending the winter with the Misses Kjeete and Minnie Bennett at 809 Milton avenue, returned on Monday to her home in Spokane.

Mrs. W. H. Brazzell of 165 South High street, went to Chicago today to spend the day.

Miss Genevieve Ryan of South Main street, who was a weekend visitor at home, has returned to her studies at the University of Wisconsin.

Fred Lawrence of Milwaukee has returned after a few days' visit in town with business friends.

Mrs. Agnes Kelly, who is spending some time in this city at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Wemple of the La Vista flats, has gone to Platteville where she will spend a week with relatives.

F. G. Ashby of Burlington, Wis., is a business visitor today in Janesville. C. M. Peterson of Racine is spending a few days in town with friends.

Harold Stickney of Camp Grant at Rockford spent the past few days at his home in this city.

O. H. Mann of Randolph, Wis., is a business visitor in Janesville.

Mrs. P. Reiller and daughter, Katherine, who have been visiting for a week with relatives in Elgin, Ill., are home.

Miss Ruth McLaughlin of Monroe street was a recent visitor with friends in Chicago.

Mrs. Josephine Cunningham of South Main street, spending the winter in this city, has come out of the mists and into the phases of the campaign. It is upon the success of the Baby Bond, as the fifty dollar bond is officially known, that the loan depends.

To reach the three billion, the subscription must be general, must have the support of the average man, those for whom the purchase of a bond means real sacrifice, and indicate a true realization of the fact that we are becoming more and more strongly urged by the speakers, the campaigners, and the leaders in the big drive. In Janesville, where the number of large subscriptions is most limited, the sale of Baby Bonds must be pushed until every man, woman, and child in the city is solicited. This is the way of the teams for the remainder of the campaign.

Call or "Four Minute Men."

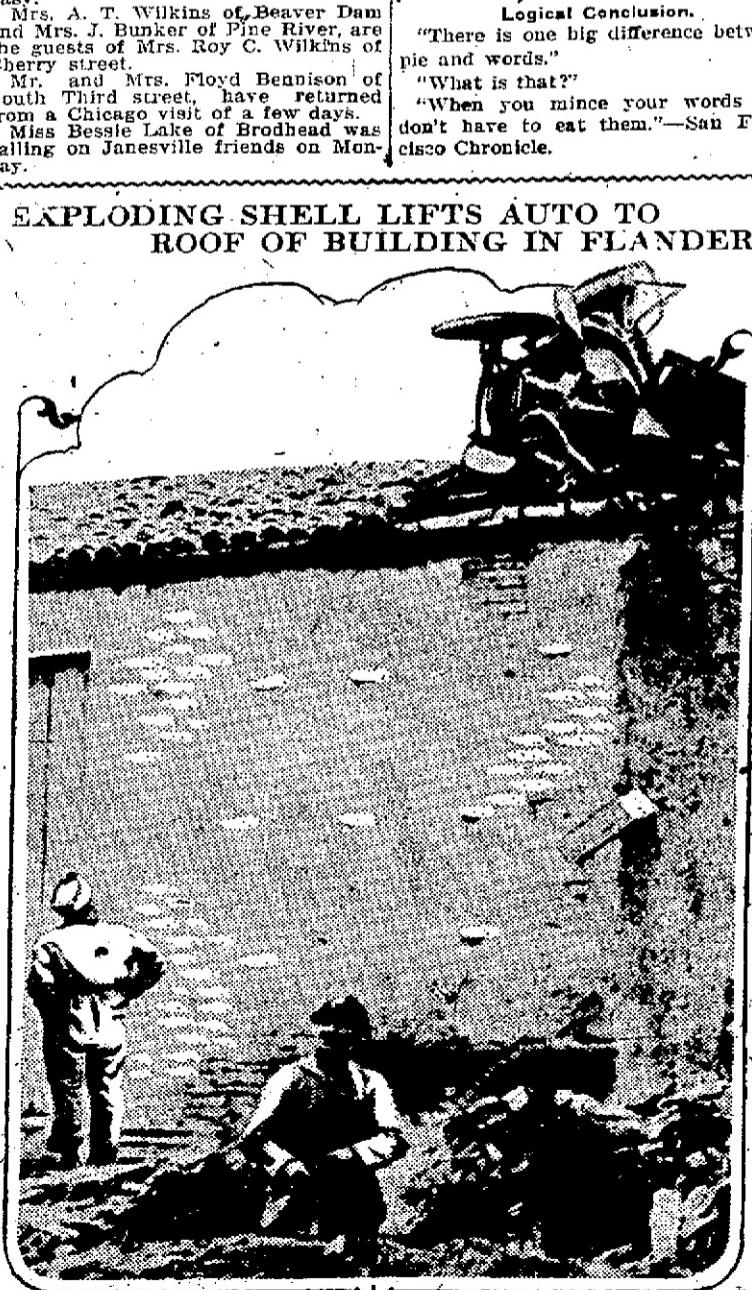

Calling upon the "Four Minute Men" as a mighty and potential influence in floating the second Liberty Loan, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has wired to Louis A. Avery of the local speakers committee for rental of elocutionists in their behalf.

Speakers, William H. Dougherty, Roger Cunningham, M. P. Richardson and M. O. Mount, have already arranged for a series of meetings to be held in the various moving picture theaters of the city on Saturday and Sunday evenings of this week.

These include a part of the activities upon which the speakers for the campaign have entered. Factory meetings, village conferences, addresses to all types of assemblages and other public gatherings have been conducted for the last week or more both in Janesville and in other places about the county. As the campaign draws toward a close these meetings will be held with increasing regularity.

The telegram received today from Secretary McAdoo calls for their assistance as follows: "The Four Minute Men are a mighty and potential influence in the success of the Liberty Loan. They did an immensely valuable and patriotic service in the first Liberty loan and I count with genuine satisfaction upon their enthusiastic support and service in placing the second Liberty loan. God speed, every Four Minute Man, in this noble work."

EXPLDING SHELL LIFTS AUTO TO ROOF OF BUILDING IN FLANDERS

The curious result of a shell explosion.

An interesting freak of the battlefield was the lifting of a motor truck to the roof of a neighboring building by the explosion of a large shell. The incident occurred in the heavy firing in Flanders. A 210 German shell burst in the roadway at the side of the car and the force of the explosion carried the auto high into the air and left it a wreck on the building nearby.

$500 LOSS IN FIRE OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN

Blaire at Barn. Owned by Theodore Hitler Results in Substantial Loss

Two Firemen Injured.

Damage to the amount of five or six hundred dollars was the result of the fire Monday evening at eight o'clock. The barn owned and located rear of the home of Theodore Hitler, 1408 Highland avenue. The fire had a good start in the hay and other inflammable materials in the barn before it was discovered and the alarm sent in to the fire department who made a quick run to the blaze.

Buildings in the near proximity of the burning barn were unoccupied for a time but after fifteen or twenty minutes, with two streams of water playing on the flames the danger disappeared. The blaze, which is of unknown origin, must have started near the inflammable material as the fire was well under way when the department arrived at the scene. The barn was burned to the extent that it is a wreath and unfit for use. A small shed on one side of the barn was also burned beyond further use.

The run to the fire and the fighting of the flames resulted in two injuries to members of the fire department. Edward Carpenter, a member of the fire police, while riding on No. 2 truck was thrown off the street. The truck struck a cross walk and had his shoulder dislocated. While fighting the fire, Richard Lichtfus, a member of the call department, had his face severely burned. The stream of water from the hose evidently struck a can or pail of oil or grease, which exploded, making severe burns on his face.

Carpenter was in good condition this morning and none the worse for his fall, but Lichtfus will be forced to remain away from his duties for some time until his face has healed.

The origin of the fire is unknown, as no one was near the barn at the time that the fire started. Mrs. Robert Kite, who lives on Chaffee street, was the first to see the fire and sent in the alarm from box number 121.

"When asked this morning for a statement in regard to the origin of the fire, chief H. C. Klein answered by saying "I have my opinion." Further than that he refused to say what he thought of the fire and how it originated.

SEARCH BEING MADE FOR JEFFERSON MAN

Inmate of Jefferson Poor Farm Starts On Way To This City But Has Not Arrived Here

Word has been received by chief of police, Champion from the Jefferson Poor Farm, that one of the inmates, T. J. Rogers, had started on his way to this city to visit relatives on October 10, and up to the present time no word has been received of his safe arrival, or has he returned. The authorities request that the chief cooperate in the search for the man who started to Janesville with his intended destination, some relatives.

He is eighty-three years of age, six feet tall, weighs 180 pounds, and his shoulders are slightly rounded. When last seen he wore a dark suit and carried an umbrella.

Edward Meighan was brought before Judge McAllister, holding a charge of non-support of his wife, Katharine.

Under the statutes, he can be given an opportunity to have an examination, and he decided to take the opportunity and asked for the examination. He was released under $300 bail, and had his trial set for Thursday morning, at ten o'clock.

Only one man appeared before the judge this morning, on a charge of drunkenness, this being the case of Luke Whitford, a wandering workman, who came here to obtain employment in the sugar company. He previously worked in this city, and after three months' of labor in Racine, he decided to return. The judge handed him a fine of $100 and costs, which he immediately paid.

The Temperance Educational League will meet Wednesday evening Oct. 17, at 7:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. building. Rev. J. A. Melrose will speak.

MEMBERS OF STATE GUARD COMPANY ARE IMPROVING RAPIDLY

Men Are Fast Learning Movements of the Soldier-Dance Will Be Given on Thursday Evening.

That the members of the Sixteenth Separate Company, Wisconsin State Guard are fast learning the movements of the soldier and company drill regulations was proven Monday evening at the regular drill period of the company held at their armory. The men drilled for one hour and a half and excelled the movements in a precise and determined manner.

Promptly at eight o'clock the men were assembled by the blowing of the bugle by Major Harry Cushing, who was recently enlisted in the ranks. Following the roll call which found all present or accounted for Sergeant Schwander took command and put them through some setting up exercises for about fifteen minutes.

Captain David Atwood, first Lieutenant Edward Baumann and second Lieutenant Victor Horowitz then each took charge of the company in turn and put the men through some rigid company drill including all the formation and movements which were newly learned. The men excelled the movements last evening in a more determined manner than they had done at any time previous.

At nine o'clock the men were given a five minute rest from the drill, after which the squad work was taken up. Platoons were formed and the several platoons in charge to develop the squad movements from the platoon formation. New commands were given and the execution of the movements fully explained.

Due to the fact that several new men were present at the drill last evening for the first time an independent platoon was formed and the second which drilled separately under the direction of sergeant Albert Nor.

Although the men were new at military tactics they soon had the fundamentals learned.

The second drill of the high school voluntary military organization will be held this evening at the armory of the Sixteenth Separate Company of soldiers.

It will be continued in addition to the squad work with the members of the Sixteenth Separate company in charge of the work.

It has also been planned to appoint temporary non-commissioned officers this evening from among the ranks so that the boys will become acquainted with the work. No permanent appointments will be made to the offices until all have had an opportunity to show their ability. It is expected that the enrollment of the company will be increased by the addition of more boys of the high school who have signified their intentions of joining now that they realize the work which has been done. The total enrollment at the present time is now ninety-four boys.

Thursday evening at the armory a dance will be given for the benefit of the Sixteenth Separate company. Dancing will start promptly at nine o'clock and will continue until one o'clock. A jazz orchestra has been secured to play the dances, which it is expected that an unusually large crowd is expected to be present. The attendance at the other benefit dances given has been very good but with the addition of a jazz orchestra this attendance is expected to be materially increased.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIE LAND

The question of how many reels a photoplay should run is not nearly as difficult to answer now as it was a year ago.

At that time certain manufacturers still had an idea that ten to twelve reels would become popular, but time has proven that the five-reel picture is the one which is most popular with the public and, therefore, the best from a commercial viewpoint.

There are several reasons for this, over the allotted five reels must have a remarkable story and such stories are scarce. Another reason is that the public prefers a feature with one or two reel comedy or a comedy and news film.

Yet another reason is that the exhibitor finds such an evening's entertainment is best for him. He can give two performances nightly, while with a long one he is likely to tire his house and to have the charges cover his hours the ill will of his steady patrons.

Most stories can be told in five reels and a closely knitted story is far more entertaining than a long-drawn-out feature with too much unnecessary detail. In some cases an overlong photoplay may gratify the

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) How late should I let my gentleman friend stay at night when he comes to see me?

(2) When we go to a picture show, should I offer to pay my own way in? He has very little money and works hard all day?

(3) When we came back from the picture show, should I ask my friend to come in for a little while or should I leave him in front of the house?

(4) What is proper to say to a young man when he has taken you to the theater or picture show and is bringing you home says he enjoyed the evening very much?

BUTTERFLY.

(5) Ten o'clock is as late as you ought to let him stay.

(6) If you are very good friends you might tell him some night that you would like to pay your own way into the picture show. If he is not well don't urge it, as it is not well to give anything at all about it.

(7) If you get back early, ask him in for a minute or two. It is not necessary, but it makes it more pleasant for him. If you come in, but leave him on the porch.

(8) Say that you have had a pleasant time, too, or say that you thank him for taking you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please answer these questions for me?

(1) Is it right for a girl who is eighteen months the elder to go with a fellow?

(2) Is it fashionable to wear a sweater before cold weather sets in?

(3) Is it right for a girl of a boy's age to have a boy friend?

(4) Is it wrong for a girl to have a fellow from another city to come and stay all night at her house?

(5) Would a black velvet hat be all right for a blonde?

(6) Is it too late to wear light suit and Panama hat?

(7) Is it right for a girl to receive rings and presents for Christmas and birthday presents?

A Perfectly Satisfactory Existence

An acquaintance of mine who had to have a maid and not have to hurry home to get dinner and rise from the dinner table to a mess of dishes. She finally acquired a maid and found a new set of annoyances. She and her husband were fond of eating at irregular hours, the maid was slow, she was not. They loved to have friends drop in unannounced, the maid did not. The wife liked her dishes washed and drained in certain heat and orderly way, the maid did not. And so on—any sure you can fill out from your own experience.

The other day I met her and she was hunting for an apartment. She Found Boarding Not Ideal.

"Yes," she said, "I'm going back to housekeeping for a while anyway. I'm sick of boarding house cooking and living in two rooms and being tied to the dinner bell. I want some privacy and freedom."

It was plain that she expected to enter upon a perfectly satisfactory existence.

Thus was four years ago.

75,000 PAIRS ARMY SHOES BEING MADE IN MILWAUKEE

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 16.—Milwaukee shoe factories will make 75,000 pairs of army shoes out of 2,000,000 pairs for which bids were recently received by the government. Several other large contracts for army shoes have been let to Milwaukee shoe manufacturers herefore.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer in this paper all questions on matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper. If a personal answer is desired enclose a two-cent stamp.)

(8) Should a girl leave the porch lamp burning when entertaining her friends?

(9) There is no objection unless they are both young. After a man and women get to be twenty-eight to thirty years of age two years' difference doesn't mean as much as when they are about twenty-five. If the girl is about twenty-eight and the man twenty-six usually it would be unfair for them to marry, but in case the man is old for his age and the girl rather young for her age, it is all right.

(10) Sweaters are worn for comfort and what is comfortable for the majority of people is also fashionable. If the weather is a little chilly, a sweater is quite comfortable.

(11) The boy should walk on the outside, that is, side next to the curb. Sometimes this will be the right side and sometimes the left side according to where they are walking.

(12) It's perfectly all right if your mother invites him and he's a friend of the family.

(13) Yes.

(14) It all depends on the weather. It is rather late for a Panama hat, but if the weather is warm it would be all right.

(15) A girl should not receive presents of jewelry from a man unless she is engaged to him.

(16) No, it is necessary. She should leave a light burning inside of the house, though so as not to be totally in the dark, but still not in the bright glare.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We have a very good looking postman who brings us mail now and I am very glad to have him. When he comes to our house he always stops and talks for a minute or two. If he has mail to leave, and is always smiling and pleasant. My mother objects to my talking to him because she says it delays him in his work. Is she right about it?

DOLLY.

Yes, she is right about your delay.

She is employed by the government and does not let anything interfere with his work. It is all right to say good morning to him and exchange a few words, but don't keep him more than a few seconds.

If everyone on his route talked to him a little while he would soon be so busy talking that he wouldn't get any mail delivered. You can't be in love with him because he is well enough. If he is interested he will ask to call.

field, Mass., and given out here today at a meeting of the National Housing Conference by Dr. John Dill Robertson, Chicago health commissioner.

The survey was held in a section of Chicago's west side, where the population was estimated at 371,259.

The survey had been conducted for a year.

For almost ten years tuberculosis has been a reportable disease. And in the survey it was found that less than one-fourth of the cases were reported.

In the wards examined it was found there were 3,541 cases of consumption reported.

The number of cases discovered was 14,282.

Dr. Robertson estimated that there are 60,482 cases of consumption in Chicago.

The bright side is recorded in the fact that in the last nine years the number of cases registered in 25,573 greater than the number of deaths.

CANNING AND PRESERVING.

BORDEAUX SAUCE.—One gallon chopped cabbage, one gallon green tomatoes, one gallon vinegar, one half cup salt, one dozen canned onions, one dozen celery seed, one dozen cloves and cinnamon mixed, one dozen peppers, one-half dozen mustard seeds, one-half pound brown sugar. Boil all together twenty minutes.

CARROT CONSERVE.—Wash and scrape six, highly-colored carrots and split them through the meat grinder, cutting as fine as peas. Put half a pint of sugar to each quart and add two cups of light brown sugar, the juice and rind of one lemon or a sour orange. Cook slowly for one or more hours until clear and thick.

CHOW-CHOW.—One peck green tomatoes, one gallon carrots (cooked separately), three heads cabbage, one peck mangos, six bunches celery, three small heads cauliflower, two tablespoons mixed spices, salt to taste, vinegars, cover and boil.

GRANADE JELLY.—Equal parts grapes and apples. Cook grapes until all done; put water enough in with the grapes so you can see it. Do the same with apples. All fruit cooked for jelly should have water put with it to extract the juice. You get more and better jelly. Strain apple juice and grapes and put together. Add more water than you have grapes and apples. Boil it fast, add sugar just before taking it up. This is for young, inexperienced housekeepers.

PEAR BUTTER.—Wash pears and without peeling, boil them until they fall to pieces. Put them through colander to remove cores and seeds. Place the pulp in stone crocks, add half as much sugar as pulp, and spice mixture to suit taste. Cook mixture slowly until it becomes smooth and thick, stirring it carefully to prevent burning. Seal butter in jars.

GRAPE CONSERVE.—One basket grapes; pulp and put through sieve; add one pound raisins; three oranges cut up fine, one bowl English walnuts cut up fine, and seven cups of sugar. Cooked fine, put in jelly glasses and cool. When cold, cover with paraffin and seal.

PALM FRUIT.—Boil palm fruit in water for five minutes before taking off stove, so they won't mash up.

PEACH BUTTER.—Made of peach parings; since everything is so high-priced, one likes to save whenever possible. Wash peaches thoroughly and cut out all decayed spots. Save parings (keep separate from stones).

When ready to make butter, cut up parings with food chopper using the finest blade. Put parings in kettle, add enough water to cook.

Can use any leftover peach juice.

When tender add one pint sugar to each quart of parings and boil until thick. Put in glass jars and seal while hot.

BROWN BREAD.

One quart corn meal, one-half cup molasses, two and one-half cups boiling water, one and two-thirds cups spoon salt, one compressed yeast cake, one-quarter cup tepid water, one rye flour, one bowl. Stir boiling water into the meal and when tepid beat in the rye flour, salt, molasses and yeast dissolved in the one-quarter cup tepid water. Should be no stiffer than sour milk bread. Beat in more water if needed. Put into well greased pans, let it stand till double its bulk and bake forty-five minutes in fairly quick oven.

SECOND HAND STOVES.—Are in great demand just now. If you have one to sell, get rid of it through a classified ad.

MARRIAGE WITHOUT CEREMONY REGULATED

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE

Madison, Wis., Oct. 16.—Getting married without a ceremony will still be done this year, but just a little more legal process than present laws require.

In other words, anyone wishing to be married by the common law route after January 1, 1918, must first take out a marriage license, as other couples do, and file the marriage contract with the local registrar of the town, village or city.

In 1916 only about a dozen marriages were consummated in this state. In 1915 there was a record of twenty-four, and in 1914 the number was 37. These are far from the true number, however, for it is known that comparatively few of the total number of common law marriages legalized in Wisconsin have ever been recorded.

Cassion came in alone, yet I observed nothing strange about his appearance, except that he failed to greet me with the usual attempt at gallantry, although his sharp eyes swept our faces as he closed the door, and stared about the room.

"What? not eaten yet?" he exclaimed. "I anticipated my fate to be a lonely meal, for the rascals worked like snails, and I would not leave them rest until all was finished. Faith, the odor is appetizing, and I am hungry as a bear."

The younger priest waved his hand to the servant yet asked softly:

"Monsignore Chevet—he is delayed also?"

"He will sup with his men tonight," returned Cassion shortly, seating himself on the bench. "The sergeant will guard of the canoes, and Chevet will be useful with those off duty."

The man ate as though nearly famished, his ready tongue unusually silent, and at the conclusion of the meal, appeared so fatigued that I made early excuse to withdraw so he might rest to comfort, climbing the ladder in one corner to my own bed beneath the eaves. This apartment, whose only advantage was privacy, was no more than a narrow space between the sloping rafters of the roof, unfinished, with a small window in the end, closed by a wooden shutter. A partition of axe-hewn planks divided this attic into two compartments, thus concealing the priests' sleeping chambers.

How Women are Restored to Health

Spartanburg, S.C.—For nine years I suffered from backache, weakness, and irregularities. I could hardly do my work. I tried many remedies, but found no permanent relief. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt a great change for the better and am now well and strong so I have no trouble in doing my work. I hope every user of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will get as great relief as I did from its use.—Mrs. S. D. McAlister, 122 Dewey Ave., Spartanburg, S.C.

Chicago, Ill.—For about two years I suffered from a female trouble so I was unable to work. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and determined to try it. It brought almost immediate relief. My weakness has entirely disappeared and I never had better health. I weigh 165 pounds and am as strong as a man. I think money is well spent when purchased Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. M. M. O'Bryan, 1733 Newport Ave., Chicago, Ill.

While I was there they both occupied the one to the south, Cassion, Chevet and Pere Allouez resting in the main room below.

As I lowered the trap in the floor, shutting out the murmur of voices, I was conscious of no desire to sleep, my mind busily occupied with possibilities of the morrow. I opened the windows and seated myself on the floor gazing out at the night. Below extended the priests' garden, and beyond the dark gloom of forest depths.

The way of egress was easy—a mere step to the flat roof of the kitchen, the dovetailed logs of which afforded a ladder to the ground. I had no obstacles in the Indian, although the low bushes between us and the house shadow, prevented my distinguishing more than his mere outline. It was only when he lifted his head into the gleam of light, and took hasty survey through the window of the scene within, that I recognized the face of D'Artigny. He lingered scarcely a moment, evidently satisfied with what he saw, and then drew silently back, hesitating a brief space, as though debating his next movement.

I waited breathless, wondering what his purpose could be, half inclined to intercept and question him. Was he seeking to serve my cause? to learn the truth of my relationship with Cassion? or did he have some other object, some personal feud in which he sought revenge? The first thought sent the warm blood leaping through my veins; the second left me shivering as if with sudden chill.

Even as I stood, hesitating, uncertain, he turned and retraced his steps along the same path of his approach, passing me not ten steps away and vanishing into the wood. I thought he paused at the edge and bent down, yet before I found voice or determination to stop him, he had disappeared. My courage returned, spurred by curiosity. Why should he take so roundabout a way to reach the shore? What was that black, shapeless thing he had paused to examine? I could see something there, dark and motionless, though to my eyes no more than a shadow.

I ventured toward it, creeping behind the bushes bordering the path, conscious of an odd fear as I drew closer. Yet it was not until I emerged from the fringe of shrubbery that even the faintest conception of what the object was I saw occurred to me.

Then I stopped, frozen by horror, for I confronted a dead body.

For an instant I could not utter a sound or move a muscle of my body. My hands clung convulsively to a nearby branch, thus supporting me erect in spite of trembling limbs and I stared at the gruesome object, black and almost shapeless in the moonlight. Only part of the trunk was revealed, the lower portion concealed by bushes, yet I could no longer doubt it was a man's body—a large, heavily built man, his hat still crushed on his head, but with face turned away.

What courage overcame my horror and urged me forward I cannot tell; I seemed impelled by some power not my own, a vague fear of recognition tugging at my heart. I crept nearer, almost inch by inch, trembling at every noise, dreading to discover the truth. At last I could perceive the ghastly features—the dead man was Blago Chevet.

I nerve'd myself to the effort, and turned, the body sufficiently to enable me to discover the wound—he had been pierced by a knife from behind; had fallen, no doubt, without uttering a cry, dead ere he struck the ground. Then it was murder, foul murder, a blow in the back. Why had the deed been done? What spirit of revenge, of hatred, of pride, could have led to such an act? I got again to my feet, staring about through the weird moonlight, every nerve throbbing, as I thought to grip the fact and find its cause. Slowly I drew back, shrinking in growing terror from the corpse, until I was safely in the priests' garden. There I paused irresolute, my dazed, benumbed brain beginning to grasp the situation and assert itself.

CHAPTER XII.

The Murder of Chevet
Who had killed him? What should I do? These were the two questions haunting my mind, and becoming more and more insistent. The light still burned in the mission house, and I could picture the scene within—the three priests reading, or talking softly to each other, and Cassion asleep in the corner, wearied with the day.

I could not understand, could not imagine a cause, and yet the assassin must have been D'Artigny. How else could I account for his presence there in the night, his efforts at concealment, his bending over the dead body, and then hurrying away without sounding an alarm. The evidence against the man seemed conclusive, and yet I would not condemn. There might be other reasons for his silence, for his secret presence, and if I rushed into the house, proclaiming my discovery and confessing what I had seen, he would be left without defense.

Shrinking, shuddering at every shadow, at every sound, my nerves throbbing with agony, I managed to drag my body up the logs, and in through the window. I was safe there, but there was no banishing from memory what I had seen—what I knew my brother in the wood shadow. I sank to the floor, clutching the sill, my eyes staring through the moonlight. Once I thought I saw a man's indistinct figure move across an open space, and once I heard voices far away.

I do not know that I was called, yet when I awoke a faint light proclaiming the dawn was in the sky, and sounds of activity reached my ears from the room below. I felt tired and cramped from my unnatural position, but hastened to join the others. The morning meal was already on the table, and we ate as usual, no one mentioning Chevet, thus proving the body had not been discovered. I could scarcely choke the food down, anticipating every instant the sounding of an alarm. Cassion hurried, excited, no doubt, by the prospect of getting away on our journey, but seemed in excellent humor. Pushing back the box on which he sat he buckled his pistol belt, seized his hat and strode to the door.

"We depart at once," he proclaimed briefly. "So I will leave you here to bring the lady."

Pere Allouez, still busily engaged, murmured some indistinct reply and Cassion's eyes met mine.

"You look pale and weary this morning," he said. "Not fear of the voyage, I hope?"

"No, monsieur," I managed to say quietly. "I slept ill, but shall be better presently—shall I bear my blankets to the boats?"

"The servant will see to that, only let there be as little delay as possible. Ah! here comes a messenger from below—what is it, my man?"

Two insurance agents—a Yankee and an Englishman—were bragging about their rival methods. The Englishman was holding forth on the prompt payment carried out by his people—no trouble, no fuss, no attempt to wriggle out of settlement.

"If the man died tonight," he continued, "his widow would receive her money by the first post tomorrow morning."

"You don't say?" drawled the Yankee. "See her now, how you talk of prompt payment! Wait, my office is on the third floor, and I'm sitting forty-nine stories high. One of our clients lived in that forty-ninth story, and he fell out of the window. We handed him his check as he passed."

HEATING AND PLUMBING

H. E. HATHORN—603 N

ROWLAND IS A MODEL BIG LEAGUE MANAGER

ESPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE: New York, Oct. 16.—Clarence Rowland, the bush leaguer, the man who has enjoyed the laughs of his contemporaries, and who has laughed last and heartily, set an example just before the last world's series that should be food for the thoughts of his colleagues. He was more than John McGraw. He needed it just as much as Eddie Collins or Christy Mathewson. But this product of Iowa small towns, a minor leaguer, turned down a fat offer from a syndicate that wanted him to "write" his world series views.

Like Ban Johnson, president of the American League, Rowland believes more in the annual swindle that offers the public stories under signatures of the game's great stars. He knew then and knows now that not one player, with the single exception of Eddie Collins' writer master credited to him, and it is extremely doubtful if Collins round-tripped during the last big game, can really write a decent account of the contests.

Rowland is rapidly rising with the greatest leaders in baseball. He is reaching the popularity enjoyed by John McGraw in his handling of temperamental ball players. Rowland has some strange mannered players on his pay roll, temperamentally as they grow, but he keeps them sitting along with them without any trouble. He doesn't make a lot of noise about it. He doesn't shout around nor tear his hair, but he gets results. He is one of the most popular men in baseball among newspapermen, for he meets them the right way. He travels in the same coach with them. That does his running with them. There is no attempt to impress or evade. His answers questions the best, he answers and trusts men to respect confidence he places with them.

Sport Snap Shots

MORRIS MILLER

The White Sox were the first to win a pennant in Ban Johnson's organization. In 1906, the first year of the American League, they captured the title. Charles A. Comiskey was then both president and manager of the club. The leading pitchers were Roger Denzer and Roy Patterson. Joe Suggen was catching and Frank Tschell played first base. In 1901, when the White Sox won again, Clark Griffith was manager and won the most games of the year. His pitchers were Suggen, Jimmy Callahan and Wiley Patti were other additions to the hurling staff. Eddie Jones, Sam Mertes and Eddie McFarland played on that team. The Sox won their last flag in 1906, under the leadership of Eddie Jones. That was the team that earned the name of the "Little Giants." Frank Tschell was the hardest hitting player on the club, and had batted .39. There was little need for hard hitting with such pitchers on the staff as Doc White, Ed. Walsh, Nick Altrock, Frank Owen, Frank Smith and Roy Patterson. Billy Sullivan was behind the bat and Donahue was demonstrating how first should be played.

Before the baseball season opened, a convention in Providence offered a suit of clothes at a premium to the members of Jack Egan's Providence Grays who would stand the greatest number of bases during the championship season. Fred Brannard, who was tried out by the Giants early last year and later released to Providence, led the team in this race. When the time arrived for the presentation of the trophy, Brannard was in the army, so the concern sent him an order for a suit. He returned it with the announcement that he had no use at this time for civilian clothes, but added that a suit of khaki would prove very acceptable. This was satisfactory to the concern, and Brannard will get a suit in uniform.

According to the unofficial averages of major league players Ray Chapman of the Cleveland Indians was the best base runner in the 1917 campaign. He was in the lead among American players for a good part of the season and was second to Ty Cobb in the closing weeks of the race. Chapman also cut corners with a burst of speed which kept him ahead of Ty. Only five players in the major league stole fifty or more bases during the season. Chapman lead with fifty-six, while Cobb had fifty-three steals, and Max Carey finished up with fifty-two thefts. Carew won the honors for the National team with thirty steals, while the American team, four players were in the race to the finish. Bobby Roth finished with fifty-one thefts and Eddie Collins with fifty. These are unofficial figures, and it is possible that the official figures may differ slightly and cause the idea to ratings of the leaders.

Crooks of Juan W. Gofforth have been amazed at the news that has been gotten publicity in the east for his race track at Tia Juana, says Harry G. Smith of the San Francisco Chronicle. The once premier promoter doubtless realized he would have a tough time breaking into print by discussing the sport of kings, but when he opened up on rights, columnists were devoted to him, in this way the Tia Juana races were mentioned by Jim Kelly, lot of staff at his daily, as well as his intention of going through with his declared time and again that he is out of the boxing game for all time. Handing his races took up all his time, and, furthermore, is more profitable. He would not think of offering big Jess Willard $100,000 or Since August the state of Wisconsin has been examining claims of dependents and relatives of soldiers to trains and authorizing contractors to confiscate liquor found on the trains.

These state laws have already been passed upon favorably. Many of these will not be transferred to the federal aid plan. The law of congress provides practically the same amounts as state law.

CUTS OUT LIQUOR FOR SELECTED MEN

Governor's Order Forbids Carrying of Any Liquor by Selected Men on Way to Camp.

Due to the added amount of war work which has been taken up by the government there is immediate need for a large number of men and women stenographers and typewriters. The civil service commission is making strong efforts at the present time to secure the services of men and women as typewriters, etc. Extra-large salaries of $1,000.00 to $1,200.00 a year are offered with promotions reasonably rapid.

Application to take the examinations can be filed with the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners, J. C. Hemming, assistant postmaster of the local office. Additional information relative to the work and qualifications for taking the examination can also be secured.

Following is the letter which was received from the local office:

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16, 1917.

Now that Uncle Sam has the young men of the country in training for military service, he finds that he needs 10,000 typewriter operators and stenographers and typewriters, both men and women, for the Dependent's Aid Fund, for the Civil Service Commission has notified all of its 3,000 boards of examiners that they shall put forth their best efforts to secure these urgently needed workers.

Whilst examinations are now held weekly in 45 cities, the Commission states that arrangements will be made to have an examination held in some place where a small number of applicants can be secured.

The entrance salaries range from $1,000 to $1,200 a year. Promotion is reasonably rapid to those whose services prove satisfactory. No appointments can be made to these or
